➤ ABOUT PRICELIS pronounced pree-cell-ease

Pricelis Perreaux-Dominguez (MSW, MEd) is a truth-teller and space builder committed to helping the Body of Christ be healthy and holy. She is the founder and CEO of Full Collective, creator of the annual Sowers Summit, and host of the Being a Sanctuary podcast. She has spoken at conferences such as Proverbs 31 and Verity Conference and has written for Chasing Justice and She Reads Truth. She is publishing her first traditionally published book with Brazos Press (an imprint of Baker Books) in September 2024 called 'Being a Sanctuary: The Radical Way the Body of Christ Can be Sacred, Soft, and Safe' and is also a contributor to the devotional The Women We've Been Waiting For. Pricelis holds master's degrees in community-based leadership and social work, and she is currently pursuing a master of arts in biblical and theological studies from Denver Seminary. She is a proud Black Latina (of Dominican descent) born and raised in New York City, where she currently resides with her husband and son.

Hello

here's a little bit of my history

I stumbled into ministry in 2015 after growing up going to a Presbyterian church as a child to then a Pentecostal church as a teen and then leaving the faith altogether when I went to college

≡ BUT GOD! ≡

I came back to Jesus in 2014 and haven't looked back since. And here's what some of life has looked like since then.....

7+ Years

Working in the social service field serving human trafficking survivors here in NYC

6+ Years

Leading my ministry called Full Collective that's mission is to ignite the body of Christ to be sowers of God's word and growers in their God given callings.

5+ Years

Working at 2 local church plants in Harlem as community director and operations director.

Currently, I serve at my current church - Renovation City Church, in supporting towards the official launch of the Church, I'm working on my 2nd book for Brazos Press, attending seminary, coaching, teaching, and running my small business.

ABOUT 'BEING A SANCTUARY

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE THE BODY OF CHRIST IN A HEALTHY AND HOLY WAY?

When news outlets reveal church scandals or we hear stories about people leaving the church, it can seem as though we are in a bit of a crisis as the Body of Christ. In Being a Sanctuary, Pricelis Perreaux-Dominguez--who has experienced abuse, trauma, and racism within the church--takes us on an honest, biblical, and reflective journey as she examines the state of the church and offers us a hopeful path forward.

Perreaux-Dominguez focuses on three aspects of God's vision for the church: that it would be sacred (biblically based), soft (trauma-informed), and safe (justice-centered). Each section of the book explores what these mean for the church using biblical teaching, practical instruction, and stories from her own experiences. She unpacks practical steps the body of Christ can take to realize this vision and cultivate a lifestyle of being a sanctuary, including repenting, pursuing sanctification, showing Christ's compassion, healing injustices, choosing unity over uniformity, and being advocates.

This book is for anyone ready to be both challenged and encouraged on how we, as the Body of Christ, can collectively return to God's foundational call to be radicals who choose the path of being sacred, soft, and safe--just like Jesus is.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT 'BEING A SANCTUARY':

“Within the pages of 'Being a Sanctuary, Pricelis Dominguez laid bare a thought-provoking journey into the essence of Christ's vision for His Church. This book sparks a vital discourse on restoration and the true embodiment of what Jesus intended for His community, the Body of Christ. This book is an essential reading for those yearning to rediscover a Church that embodies the profound love and grace of Christ, offering solace and strength as Psalm 46:1 assures: 'God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble.' This is the strength the church must cling to during its present crisis of apathy.”

-Latasha Morrison: NYT bestselling author of Be the Bridge and CEO and Founder of Be the Bridge

“Pricelis addresses the Church with passionate love. Sometimes, those with the strongest words do so boldly because they have ferocious hope. This hope is palpable through these pages. Pricelis calls the Body of Christ to rise up and shine like Christ Himself.”

-Faith Eury Cho: Pastor, Speaker, Founder of the Honor Summit, and Author of "Experiencing Friendship with God"

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT ‘BEING A SANCTUARY’:

“Being a Sanctuary is a challenge: a challenge to comfortable Christianity and self-centered faith. Pricelis is not afraid to face complicated, painful topics, including her own story of church hurt and loss, to help Christians become a safe place in a wild world. Being a sanctuary means really seeing people: not just stances and sides, but people loved by God, who need a truth that sets them free. ‘By this everyone will know you are My disciples, that you love one another.’ John 13:35”

-Phylicia Masonheimer: Author, Bible Teacher, and founder of Every Woman a Theologian

“Rather than grow calloused after serving as collateral in the white evangelical machine, Pricelis chose softness and safety. Throughout these pages, she invites readers to see themselves as welcoming sanctuaries to all image bearers, embodying the gospel for every tribe and tongue.”

-Tiffany Bluhm: Author of The Women We've Been Waiting For and Prey Tell and Executive Director at Made for Pax

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT 'BEING A SANCTUARY':

“Pricelis' love for the church is matched by her passion for truth. In this crisis moment of the church, many will find our stories in this book. Many of us will resonate with this longing to belong to something real and meaningful that points to the beauty and justice of God. This invitation to restoration through truth is one we all need.”

-Rev. Sandra María Van Opstal: Co-founder of Chasing Justice, Pastor, and author of The Next Worship

"As a pastor, I am grateful to have voices like Pricelis' in the Church. As we all learn how to serve better those who have been hurt in the Church, but who do not leave the Church, books like this will prove an invaluable resource."

-Jeremy Jenkins: Pastor, Author, and Founder of All Things All People
